STATEMENT OF CHARGES

13 Please take notice that the Securities Administrator of the State of Washington has reason to believe 14 that Respondents, TreeFree Biomass Solutions, Inc. and Eulysses B. Lewis have each violated the Securities
15 Act of Washington and that their violations justify the entry of an order of the Securities Administrator 16 under RCW 21.20.390 against each to cease and desist from such violations and to charge costs, and under 17 RCW 21.20.395 to impose fines. The Securities Administrator finds as follow:

18

TENTATIVE FINDINGS OF FACT

20

Respondents

22 1. TreeFree Biomass Solutions, Inc. ("TreeFree") is an active Washington corporation
23 incorporated on November 16, 2000. Between 2000 and January 27, 2009, TreeFree was known as Nile 24 Fiber Pulp & Paper, Inc. TreeFree uses an office in Seattle, Washington. TreeFree is in the business of 25 developing the plant Arundo donax ("Arundo") for use in a variety of commercial applications, including the manufacture of pulp, paper, and building materials, and for use as a biofuel. The company was founded in 2000 by Ernett Altheimer, who died in 2007.

1 2. Eulysses B. Lewis (“Lewis”) is a Washington resident and has been the President of 2 TreeFree since 2009. On or around November 12, 2008, Lewis filed bankruptcy in United States 3 Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of Washington. Since no later than November 2008, Lewis has 4 had control of a majority of TreeFree’s outstanding shares.

5 Related Entities

6 3. Miracane, LLC (“Miracane”) is an inactive Washington limited liability company formed on 7 February 13, 2001, with a business address in East Wenatchee, Washington. Miracane was administratively 8 dissolved on June 1, 2012. As of February 2001, Miracane’s sole asset was 2.5 million shares of TreeFree 9 stock.

10 4. West Coast Theatre Corporation (“West Coast Theatre”) is a Washington corporation formed 11 on April 12, 1976. West Coast Theater is a shareholder of TreeFree. Lewis is the president and chairman of 12 West Coast Theatre.

13 5. TreeFree Technologies, Inc. (“TreeFree Tech”) is an inactive Washington corporation
14 formed on September 1, 2006. Lewis formed TreeFree Tech to pursue additional applications for Arundo, 15 prior to becoming TreeFree’s President. In approximately 2008, TreeFree sent correspondence to 16 shareholders that indicated that TreeFree Tech and TreeFree would merge, but records from the Washington 17 Secretary of State do not reflect that a merger ever took place.

18 Overview

19 6. Beginning no later than 2000 and continuing through at least January 2015, TreeFree raised 20 at least $9 million through the sale of common stock to approximately 700 investors in at least twenty-five 21 states and other countries, including at least four hundred Washington residents. On or around August 14, 22 2014, TreeFree received a subpoena from the Securities Division, along with a letter warning TreeFree to 23 immediately cease and desist from additional violations of the Securities Act of Washington. After

1 receiving the subpoena and warning letter, however, TreeFree sold at least $260,000 worth of its stock to at 2 least two additional investors. In June 2015, TreeFree repaid $250,000 to one of these investors. In 3 addition to selling common stock, TreeFree sold $500,000 worth of Series A preferred stock to a single 4 investor in or around 2009. TreeFree also offered and sold at least $635,000 worth of Series B convertible
5 preferred stock to seven investors. In addition to direct investments in Tree Free, some investors invested 6 through Miracane. Between approximately 2001 and 2003, Miracane raised more than $100,000 through 7 the sale of its stock to at least 36 investors, who later received shares of TreeFree stock.

8 7. TreeFree found new investors using sales representatives who solicited friends and persons 9 they knew in a professional capacity. These representatives solicited individuals and groups of potential 10 investors. TreeFree also solicited existing investors in a number of letters and newsletters that were sent to 11 shareholders. In these meetings and newsletters, TreeFree described environmental legislation that 12 enhanced the potential market for TreeFree's main business line, products derived from Arundo. TreeFree 13 initially sought to use the plant for pulp and paper, and later envisioned other uses, including use in building 14 materials and as a biofuel. One obstacle to the commercial application of Arundo has been the fact that it 15 has caused ecological and economic damage in some areas in the United States, primarily in riparian areas.
16 Multiple environmental organizations have sought to have Arundo included on lists of restricted or 17 prohibited plants. By 2014, Arundo had been declared a noxious or invasive species by at least six states.

18 8. The vast majority of investors did not receive a disclosure document concerning TreeFree, 19 such as a private placement memorandum ("PPM"), prior to investing. TreeFree representatives provided 20 some potential investors with a business plan and a DVD presentation about TreeFree. Most investors 21 signed stock purchase agreements around the time of their investments. Between approximately 2000 and 22 2009, investors received stock certificates issued by Nile Fiber, and subsequent investors received stock 23 certificates issued under the name TreeFree.

1 9. TreeFree typically sold shares of its common stock for $0.40 per share, but also sold the 2 stock at various prices ranging from $0.01 per share to $2.50 per share. Investors typically paid for 3 investments through checks payable to TreeFree. At least six investors were instructed to pay for their 4 investments in cash. In 2012, one investor was instructed to wire $200,000 to an account in the name of 5 West Coast Theatre in order to purchase an investment in TreeFree.

6 Letter and Newsletter Offerings

7 10. TreeFree solicited existing investors in a number of letters and newsletters that were sent to 8 shareholders. TreeFree encouraged investors to purchase additional shares quickly by stating in some letters 9 that there would be an imminent increase in the stock price. For example, in a 2009 business plan provided 10 to investors, TreeFree stated that its per share price had not changed in three years, and that the company 11 was planning to raise its stock price “very shortly.” In July 2012, TreeFree sent a letter to investors that 12 stated: “STOCK PRICE INCREASE – LAST OPPORTUNITY AT $0.40 PER SHARE.” TreeFree also 13 created a sense of urgency in some of these letters by stressing the company’s need for investors’ funds. For 14 example, in a February 2009 letter, TreeFree stated: “we must immediately raise a minimum of $400,000 so 15 that we can open up our office to communicate, organize and implement these opportunities....” 16

17 Misrepresentations and Omissions concerning an Initial Public Offering (IPO)

18 11. Between 2000 and 2012, TreeFree made misleading representations to investors and potential 19 investors regarding an initial public offering (“IPO”) that would purportedly be conducted by the company.
20 During in-person solicitations and in letters to shareholders, TreeFree and its representatives misleadingly 21 led investors to believe that the IPO would occur in six months or less. In fact, TreeFree never undertook 22 several prerequisites to making an IPO, including obtaining an independent audit and filing a registration 23 statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). TreeFree also failed to disclose that

1 potential obstacles could significantly delay the IPO, such as the SEC review of the registration statement, 2 and the need to rectify any deficiencies.

3 12. Moreover, TreeFree representatives failed to disclose that a public market for TreeFree's 4 stock might not develop, notwithstanding an IPO taking place. TreeFree further failed to disclose that even 5 if a public market developed, a liquid market for TreeFree stock may not develop and TreeFree shareholders 6 could still have difficulty selling their shares.

7 13. TreeFree also made misleading representations concerning the future stock price of the 8 shares and the potential profits that would be made by investors as part of the IPO. In 2000, a TreeFree 9 representative told a prospective investor that TreeFree's stock would be worth $10 per share after the IPO.
10 In 2003, a TreeFree representative told a prospective investor that shares of TreeFree stock, which were 11 being sold for $1 per share, would be worth between $25 and $40 per share after the completion of the IPO.
12 In June 2009, a TreeFree representative told a group of potential investors that TreeFree stock, which was 13 then available for $0.40 per share, would be worth $29 per share after the IPO which was to occur within six 14 months. TreeFree representatives failed to disclose the basis for these projections and the assumptions 15 underlying them.
16

17 14. TreeFree also made misleading representations regarding the exchange on which the shares 18 would trade, leading investors to believe their shares would soon be traded on the NASDAQ. For example, 19 in February 2008, Lewis sent a letter to shareholders addressing TreeFree's recent activity, and stating that 20 the contemplated merger of TreeFree and TreeFree Tech would allow "an intended NASDAQ offering...."
21 Lewis further represented that TreeFree's recent "research and development accomplishments" had "[s]et 22 the Company on course to qualify for NASDAQ's initial listing requirements." In a letter to shareholders 23 dated February 5, 2009, Lewis stated that TreeFree's management believed that TreeFree would qualify to 24 be listed on the NASDAQ within four months.
25

1 15. During the relevant time period, companies seeking to be traded on the NASDAQ were 2 required to meet a number of listing requirements. These requirements included, among other things, filing 3 a registration statement with the SEC, an independent audit, an independent board of directors, and the 4 payment of a fee of no less than $50,000. TreeFree failed to disclose to potential investors that it had not 5 prepared or filed a registration statement with the SEC or paid a listing fee to NASDAQ. Moreover, 6 TreeFree failed to disclose to investors that the company's board of directors was not independent, and that 7 creating a new independent board could significantly delay the IPO.

8 Omissions concerning TreeFree's Financial Condition

9 16. TreeFree failed to disclose material information to investors concerning its financial 10 condition. Over the time period of the offering, TreeFree's disclosure of its financial condition has been 11 limited to the distribution of financial statements to shareholders and potential investors who have attended 12 certain shareholder meetings. TreeFree failed to disclose the fact that it was undercapitalized. TreeFree has 13 generated less than $100,000 in revenue during its existence, and requested additional funds from 14 shareholders on at least ten occasions between 2002 and December 2013. Most of these requests were made 15 for costs related to TreeFree's core business to address short-term needs. TreeFree failed to disclose the 16 risks arising from undercapitalization, including having to accept unfavorable terms from third parties as a 17 condition to acquiring more capital, shareholder dilution from stock sales, and the cessation of operations.

18 Failure to Disclose Potential Liability from Prior Offerings

19 17. TreeFree failed to disclose information concerning potential liability from its prior stock 20 offerings. In or around June 2008, Lewis received a letter from an attorney who represented a potential 21 investor who was contemplating forming a group to make an investment in TreeFree. In the letter, the 22 attorney concluded that TreeFree had likely violated state and federal securities laws by offering and selling 23 unregistered securities, and by making inadequate disclosures to investors. The letter also described the

1 potential civil remedies that investors could seek against TreeFree. In spite of receiving this notification of 2 its potential civil liability, TreeFree did not register its stock offering, file a claim of exemption, or prepare a 3 detailed disclosure document for investors.

4 Misrepresentations and Omissions concerning the Use of Investment Funds

5 18. TreeFree failed to disclose to potential investors detailed written information concerning the 6 use of investor funds. In several letters to shareholders, Lewis stated that the funds being solicited would be 7 applied to creating a PPM. To date, TreeFree has not provided a PPM to potential shareholders. TreeFree 8 failed to disclose detailed information regarding the compensation received by its personnel and 9 management, including the fact that the since approximately 2006, Lewis has received a salary of $14,000
10 per month. Lewis commingled funds by receiving his salary by using a debit card issued for TreeFree's 11 main business account for personal expenses. Between January 2012 and May 2015, Lewis used this card to 12 make approximately 500 ATM withdrawals at local casinos totaling more than $400,000. Lewis also 13 commingled funds by making transfers between a personal bank account and TreeFree's main business 14 account. Between May 2009 and May 2015, Lewis made approximately 480 transfers between these 15 accounts. At least 460 of these transfers were transfers into Lewis's personal account. At the end of each 16 month, TreeFree's part time bookkeeper reconciled this account, allocating all money spent by Lewis in 17 excess of his salary as repayment of loans made to TreeFree by West Coast Theatre. TreeFree failed to 18 disclose to some investors that, beginning no later than early 2009, TreeFree has been making monthly 19 payments to two family members of the company's founder (Ernett Altheimer) to buy back their shares, 20 some of which were acquired upon Altheimer's death. By April 2012, these relatives had received over 21 $700,000.
22
23
24
25

Failure to Disclose Material Information Regarding Key Personnel

2 19. TreeFree failed to disclose material information to investors regarding the background and 3 prior business experience of Lewis and other members of the company's management. TreeFree and its 4 representatives failed to disclose to some investors that Lewis filed for bankruptcy in 2008, shortly before 5 becoming the President of TreeFree in 2009. Lewis originally filed pursuant to Chapter 13 of the 6 bankruptcy code. In March 2009, Lewis's case was converted to a Chapter 11 case because, in part, Lewis's 7 debts exceeded Chapter 13's limits. In May 2010, the court converted Lewis's case to Chapter 7 upon the 8 motion of one of Lewis's creditors who alleged, among other things, that Lewis had failed to comply with 9 court orders, had failed to file required reports, and had not made required payments to the bankruptcy 10 trustee. Lewis's bankruptcy continued for nine months until February 2011 when Lewis received a 11 discharge pursuant to Chapter 7.

12
13 20. TreeFree failed to disclose the risks associated with the lack of relevant experience by other 14 members of the company's management. TreeFree's directors and officers have prior business experience 15 in unrelated fields such as entertainment, education, and retail, but did not have prior experience in 16 biotechnology, biomass, or fields related to TreeFree's core business.

Failure to Disclose Risks Associated with Arundo's Legal Status

18 21. In its solicitations, TreeFree touted the market potential for Arundo, but failed to disclose to 19 investors material information concerning the risks presented by Arundo's unsettled legal status. In 2003, 20 the State of California declared Arundo a noxious species, and by 2014, it had been declared a noxious or 21 invasive species by at least six states. TreeFree failed to disclose to potential investors the risk of additional 22 jurisdictions declaring Arundo an invasive or noxious species. Among other things, such regulatory action 23 presents the risk of significantly limiting TreeFree's ability to grow Arundo, which could significantly

1 increase the cost of growing Arundo. TreeFree representatives also failed to disclose the risk that certain 2 states could prohibit the planting of Arundo, which could undermine TreeFree’s business prospects.

3 Misleading Statements and Omissions Concerning Patents

4 22. TreeFree and its representatives made misleading statements concerning the value of the 5 company’s patents. In newsletters to investors and potential investors, TreeFree provided various valuations
6 for its patents that ranged between approximately $100 million to $300 million. TreeFree failed to disclose 7 to potential investors that the company’s patents have not been independently appraised. In approximately 8 February 2007, TreeFree representatives stated to a group of potential investors that TreeFree’s patents were 9 “extremely” valuable and had multiple applications. TreeFree failed to disclose the risk that other parties 10 could infringe upon the patents, due to the fact that the company did not have the financial resources to 11 enforce and defend its patents. TreeFree also held a limited interest in a second patent. Moreover, in 12 approximately 2004, a consultant had informed TreeFree’s management that the assigned US patent was 13 “virtually meaningless” because its application was very narrow.
14

15 Failure to Disclose Loans and Resulting Conflicts of Interest

16 23. TreeFree representatives failed to disclose to investors that TreeFree has received loans from 17 Lewis’ “investing company,” West Coast Theatre. Between approximately 2004 and the present, West 18 Coast Theatre has lent more than $1.5 million to TreeFree. This obligation has not been reduced to 19 writing. Between no later than May 2009 and as recent as April 2015, TreeFree has made regular 20 payments against these loans to West Coast Theatre through payments to Lewis. TreeFree failed to 21 provide detailed disclosure of the loan’s terms such as its interest rate of 10% and duration. Furthermore, 22 TreeFree and its representatives failed to disclose to potential investors the conflicts of interest resulting 23 from this arrangement, including, but not limited to, the possibility that Lewis may direct TreeFree to repay 24 West Coast Theatre when it is disadvantageous to TreeFree and its shareholders to do so.

Registration Status

24. TreeFree Biomass Solutions, Inc. is not currently registered to sell its securities in the State of Washington. On or around January 25, 2002, TreeFree (then known as Nile Fiber Pulp & Paper, Inc.) filed a Form D with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and with the Securities Division, claiming an exemption for an offering of $370,000 worth of common stock pursuant to Rule 506 of Regulation D. According to the Form D, TreeFree had already sold the full $370,000 worth of common stock to 19 investors in three states, including 16 investors in Washington. TreeFree proceeded to sell at least $8.5 million worth of stock without making any subsequent filings with the Division.

25. Eulysses B. Lewis is not currently registered as a salesperson or broker-dealer in the State of Washington, and has not previously been so registered.

2. TreeFree Biomass Solutions, Inc. and Eulysses B. Lewis have each violated RCW 21.20.140 because no registration for such an offer and/or sale is on file with the Securities Administrator of the State of Washington, nor is any current claim of exemption.

3. TreeFree Biomass Solutions, Inc. and Eulysses B. Lewis have each violated RCW 21.20.010 because, as described above, Respondents made untrue statements of material fact or omitted to state material facts necessary to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.

4. Eulysses B. Lewis has violated RCW 21.20.040 by acting as a securities salesperson or broker-dealer in the State of Washington while not registered as such.
